MASONS AND EASTERN STARS IN JOINT CELEBRATION

Inge, Worthy Matron.

During its existance the first floor had gone through several changes. Originally a movie theatre house, it not only served that purpose but also gave the graduates of Pamplin High School a place for their graduation exercises.

Later it was changed to a recreation hall. Many of those present at the joint meeting told of the good times they had in this room, dancing and roller skating around the posts that support the second floor.

Once more there was a change. This time two apartments were made to provide housing for the widows of Masons. It was used in that manner for several years and then became vacant. To make the use of the space as apartments required expensive changes and then there would be problems. The decision of the two organizaitons was to do away with the apartments and utilize the space as a Fellowship Hall. This would provide the space needed for the Masons for Ladies Night and for other activites of the Lodges requiring space other than the Lodge Hall. For the Eastern Star, meetings are held in the Grand Visitation of July 19 this year, when the Pamplin Chapter was host to Appomattox Chapter No. 10 and Rustburg Chapter No. 23, and some of the Grand Officers of Virginia, other officers, past and present from the Grand Lodge of Virginia, and other Chapters of Virginia.

The renovation continued through the administrations of Worshipful Masters L. Richard Stockton (1977), M. Gene Davis (1978) and Joseph Lacy Almond (1979), and Worthy Matrons Aileen Harvey (1977-78) and Verdella V. Hamilton (1979).

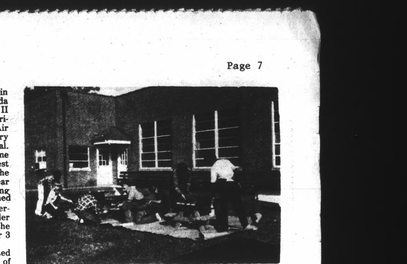
The joint celebration brought the two organizations together to see the results of their efforts in action. There were 75 in attendance, members, spouses, widows of masons and friends.

Wallace Clair of Spout Spring was the speaker for the meeting. His subject dealt with his travels and relationships with the Aeronautical Industry. He started flying in the early 30's, went to Canada at the start of World War II where he, with other Americans, joined the Royal Air Force, was on the Ferry Command and the Coastal. After Pearl Harbor he came back to the States as a Test. Pilot and in this position he traveled Europe, Africa, Near East and Middle East among other places. In 1960 he joined the Aero and Space Engineering as Test Officer under NASA until last flight to the Moon and retired in 1971 for 3 years.

In 1974, Clair was elected Chairman of the Board of Commission on Aging and was appointed to his present position with the Commission in early 1975, Executive Director of the Central Virginia Commission On Aging.

Verdella Hamilton presented a 50 year pin to Aileen Harvey and with it told of the long list of offices held during the 50 years she has been with the Chapter. During that time Aileen has certainly had the interest of the Chapter at heart, always one to jump in when others held back so the Chapter would continue to move forward. Just to hear of the many offices she has held in the Chapter tells that. She has served as Worthy Matron at least six times and has served in most of the other 17 offices, sometimes several times. She has set an example for others to follow. Other living recipients of the 50 year pin are Katherine Cunningham, Helene Booker, Maggie Blackburn, and Janie Anderson.

The Building Committee members included Russell Carson, Jim Whitlow, Warren Covington and Horace W. Coleman, Jr., Chairman. They were honored by the presentation by the Lodge of an Achievement Award in the name of Brother Horace W. Coleman, Jr. The Building Committee is taking this means of thanking all of the members who have had a part in the renovation of the building.



THE APPOMATTOX MIDDLE SCHOOL F.F.A. is cooperating with the Town of Appomattox in connection with its B.O.A.C. program by building three regular picnic tables and three miniature picnic tables for the Appomattox Children's Park. Also, in the background are six benches built for the Lions Club to be placed in the downtown area.
